

Leading Labor and Employment Attorney Janet Goldberg McEnergy Joins Carlton Fields

April 01, 2024

TAMPA, FL – Janet Goldberg McEnergy has joined Carlton Fields’ national Labor and Employment Practice as of counsel in Tampa. She was most recently a shareholder at Stearns Weaver Miller. With more than 30 years of experience, McEnergy represents and counsels employers in all aspects of labor and employment law, including defending claims of employment discrimination, minimum wage/overtime, employment contract, and whistleblower claims. Her experience includes defending discrimination and wrongful discharge claims through jury trial; defending class actions; and representing employers before the National Labor Relations Board, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and in audits before the Department of Labor, Department of Homeland Security, and Department of Justice. “Janet is a trusted legal adviser and a welcome addition to our team,” said James Sconzo, chair of Carlton Fields’ Labor and Employment Practice. “An experienced trial attorney and adept problem-solver, Janet understands what it takes to find solutions that benefit both organizations and their employees.” Board certified by the Florida Bar in labor and employment law, McEnergy began her career as a trial attorney with the National Labor Relations Board. In private practice, she chaired the labor and employment practice at a Tampa law firm. Her clients include private, public, and nonprofit employers, such as businesses, hospitals, medical practices, restaurants, hotels, wagering facilities, manufacturers, financial institutions, government contractors, municipalities, landscape contractors, insurance companies, independent insurance agencies, and educational institutions. “I’m excited to join a leading labor and employment practice with attorneys I have known and respected for years and provide added value to my clients,” said McEnergy. “Additionally, the opportunity to collaborate with the firm’s health care, corporate, and tax attorneys provides a synergy to my practice.” McEnergy earned her J.D. from the University of Illinois College of Law and her B.A., magna cum laude, from the State University of New York at Buffalo.
