

CMS Releases 2014 Health Care Spending Data by State

November 14, 2017

On June 14, 2017, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (“CMS”)’ Office of the Actuary (“OACT”) released data detailing health care spending by state for the years 1991 through 2014. The data provides estimates for spending on goods and services (e.g., hospital services or retail prescription drugs) as well as categorizing such spending by major payor (including Medicare, Medicaid, and other private health insurers). The data validates considerable regional variation in personal healthcare spending. For the year 2014, New England had the highest level of total per capita personal health care spending of roughly $10,000.00 per person and the Southwest region of the United States U.S. had the lowest per capital health care spend of roughly $6,800.00 per person. The national average per capita personal health care spending was roughly $8,000.00 per person. The state with the highest 2014 per enrollee Medicare spending was New Jersey ($12,614.00 per person) and the lowest was Montana ($8,238.00 per person). Interestingly, per capita health spending in Medicaid expansion (4.4%) and non-expansion states (4.5%) grew at similar rates. Reprinted with permission from The Florida Bar Health Law Section, November 2017 Health Law Update.

Related Practices

Health Care

Related Industries

Health Care

publication is not intended to create, and receipt of it does not constitute, an attorney-client relationship with Carlton Fields. This publication may not be quoted or referred to in any other publication or proceeding without the prior written consent of the firm, to be given or withheld at our discretion. To request reprint permission for any of our publications, please use our Contact Us form via the link below. The views set forth herein are the personal views of the author and do not necessarily reflect those of the firm. This site may contain hypertext links to information created and maintained by other entities. Carlton Fields does not control or guarantee the accuracy or completeness of this outside information, nor is the inclusion of a link to be intended as an endorsement of those outside sites.