Overview

Sabrina Callahan is developing her practice in business litigation. She has helped attorneys on a range of litigation matters by researching legal issues and drafting memoranda.

Before joining the firm, Sabrina was an extern with the ACLU of North Carolina and a legal assistant at an immigration law firm. She earned her J.D. from the University of North Carolina School of Law, where she served as chief justice of the Holderness Moot Court Bench, president of the Hispanic Latino Law Student Association, and a staff member of the North Carolina Civil Rights Law Review. As a student in the Criminalized Survivor, Detention, and Justice Clinic, she and her two clinic partners were honored with the Clinical Legal Education Association Outstanding Student Award. She also received the Jerry B. and Callie Irene Stone Constitutional Law Award.
