Overview

The members of Carlton Fields' tax team stand out for their abilities to connect with clients and express complex concepts in straightforward terms, and for their creativity and focus on each client's needs and goals. The group includes lawyers who hold post-law degrees (LL.Ms) in taxation, specialists who are board certified in Tax Law by The Florida Bar, former tax professors, and certified public accountants. Their specialized tax knowledge and effective communication skills benefit clients that include Fortune 100 companies, publicly held corporations, closely held companies, national investment companies and funds, nonprofit and tax-exempt organizations, startups, and individuals.

Our team provides comprehensive representation that includes international, federal, state, and local tax planning, counseling, and advocacy; as well as legislative and regulatory advocacy and estate planning. We handle a wide range of tax controversies before administrative agencies and courts, including state trial and appellate courts, federal district and appellate courts, the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, and the U.S. Tax Court.

State and Local Taxation

We advise with respect to all manner of state and local taxes, including property, income, sales and use, and documentary stamp taxes. Our representation includes advising on the taxability of transactions, structuring transactions to maximize state and local tax efficiency, and assisting clients with state and local government taxing authorities.

Federal Taxation

We have deep and broad experience with the federal income taxation of corporations, limited liability companies, partnerships, tax-exempt organizations, employee benefit plans, and individuals. We advise business entities and owners on a wide variety of tax concerns and strategies, from entity selection to profit maximization to executive compensation to business exit and succession planning. We advise individuals with regard to tax issues relating to entity ownership, tax disputes, and estate planning. We have significant expertise in representing tax-exempt organizations with both U.S. and international presences.

For our business clients, we advise regarding both day-to-day and major event tax planning, including: tax controversies; mergers and acquisitions; spin-offs; corporate restructurings and recapitalizations; establishing and maintaining qualified benefit plans; bankruptcies, workouts, and other capital restructurings; structured financings; and debt, equity, and hybrid securities offerings.

International Taxation

Pre-Immigration Tax Planning

Our team of experienced tax attorneys provide pre-immigration tax planning for persons immigrating to the United States in an effort to minimize their U.S. taxes and preserve their wealth. Please see our detailed analysis of pre-immigration planning concerns, including examples, for more information.
