

Carlton Fields Shareholder Joseph A. McManus, Jr. Named to Washington, D.C. Super Lawyers 2022 List

April 28, 2022

Washington, D.C. – Carlton Fields is pleased to announce that Washington, D.C. Shareholder Joseph A. McManus, Jr. was selected for inclusion in the 2022 issue of Washington, D.C. Super Lawyers. No more than 5% of Washington, D.C. attorneys earn a spot on the list each year.

McManus focuses his practice on government contracting, construction litigation, and dispute resolution. With more than 40 years of experience in federal government contracts, he is intimately familiar with the federal statutes, regulations, and agency supplements unique to government supply, service, and construction contracts. He has represented clients on a variety of projects, including airports, hospitals, hotels and resorts, public-private projects, embassies, condominiums, office buildings, roads, and power plants. McManus has deep experience in infrastructure and transportation matters, as well as aviation and health care matters. In addition to his extensive contract drafting experience, he has litigated construction disputes in state and federal courts and before boards of contract appeals for owners, general contractors, architects, engineers, subcontractors, and suppliers.

Super Lawyers, a Thomson Reuters business, is a rating service of outstanding lawyers from more than 70 practice areas who have attained a high degree of peer recognition and professional achievement. The annual selections are made using a patented multiphase process that includes a statewide survey of lawyers, an independent research evaluation of candidates, and peer reviews by practice area. The result is a credible, comprehensive, and diverse listing of exceptional attorneys.

Featuring

Joseph A. McManus Jr.

Related Practices

Construction

Construction Litigation

Alternative Dispute Resolution Services

Related Industries

Construction