

More Wetlands Litigation May Be Coming To A Court Near You

February 15, 2017

Carlton Fields Miami Shareholder Neal McAliley was quoted in Agri Pulse. The article, “More wetlands litigation may be coming to a court near you,” discusses the increase in litigation of the government authority under the Clean Water Act under the new Trump Administration. McAliley shared:

I think there's going to be an increasing focus on the courts. Legislation would obviously lead to the most long-lasting changes to the (law) but also, historically, this has been the hardest to accomplish for either party.

READ the article. (Subscription required for full access)

Featuring

Neal McAliley

Related Practices

Environmental Regulation & Litigation
Litigation and Trials

