

Carlton Fields Shareholder Reflects on Cybersecurity Summit

July 06, 2018

Carlton Fields Shareholder John “Jack” Clabby was quoted by a cybersecurity blog about his experience at this summer’s NetDiligence Cyber Risk Summit in Philadelphia. Clabby, who leads the firm’s Securities and Derivative Litigation practice group, met with other cybersecurity advisers at the conference. “There is not another event where this many insurance professionals and subject matter experts gather in the spirit of collaboration to discuss the hot topics for cyber risk,” he told the blog.
