

Carlton Fields Adds Five Attorney Team to DC Construction Group

August 14, 2019

Carlton Fields attorneys Joseph McManus, Daniel Felsen, James Carney, David Butzer, and Dale Ellickson were featured in a Law360 article about their recent merge with the firm's nationally recognized construction group.

The article discusses the team's move to the firm's Washington, D.C. office, where they will handle public and private construction issues, as well as international arbitration disputes.

The group is expected to add to Carlton Fields' considerable roster of construction lawyers, and provide new depth to the firm's government contract practice.

Read the article. (Subscription may be required).

Featuring

Joseph A. McManus Jr.

Daniel K. Felsen

James P. Carney

David J. Butzer

Related Practices

Construction Litigation

Construction Transactions

Construction

Related Industries

Construction