

Will Zoom Glitches Open the Door for New Deposition Technology for Litigators?

June 02, 2021

Carlton Fields litigator Donald Kirk was quoted in a Daily Business Review/Law.com article discussing his experiences using Zoom for court proceedings during the pandemic. “The worst thing that can happen is a technical issue disrupting flow in a trial. So practice makes perfect, as they say,” Kirk said. “Conduct a few dry runs and make sure everyone on your team does the same.” READ: Law.com/Daily Business Review, “Will Zoom Glitches Open the Door for New Deposition Technology for Litigators?” (subscription only)

Featuring

Donald R. Kirk

Related Practices

Litigation and Trials

