

Carlton Fields' Orlando Office Relocates To SunTrust Center

April 08, 2019

Orlando, Fla. – The law firm Carlton Fields announced today that it has relocated its Orlando office to the SunTrust Center, Main Tower, 200 South Orange Avenue, Suite 1000, Orlando, FL 32801-3400.

“Carlton Fields has had roots in downtown Orlando since 1968,” said Dan DeCubellis, who co-leads Carlton Fields’ Orlando office with Johanna Clark. “The SunTrust Center is located in the heart of Orlando’s central business district and offers us an ideal home.”

Clark added, “The new location offers our Orlando team more opportunity for growth and enables us to have a more modern and efficient workspace to better serve our clients.”

Carlton Fields leased 14,000 sq. ft. in the Main Tower of the SunTrust Center, which is Orlando’s largest and tallest building. The firm thanks the CNL Center for its hospitality over the last 19 years.

Carlton Fields was represented by Jeff Sweeney of Cushman & Wakefield and Andy Lechter of Savills Studley.
