

International Privacy Compliance

Overview

Through Carlton Fields' International Privacy Compliance services, we assist U.S.-based companies that do business internationally in complying with the ever-changing landscape of data privacy laws. We have particular experience in the European Union and Central and South America, including Brazil.

Whether our clients are seeking to expand products and services to international markets, or are looking to ensure an existing compliance program is up to date with the latest guidance and regulations, Carlton Fields' multidisciplinary team can assist. As needed, we partner with clients' existing foreign law firms, or through a referral from within our network of trusted law firms based in your target country, for "on the ground" advice outside the United States.
