Overview

Matt Conigliaro is a board certified appellate specialist who has been recognized as one of Florida's top appellate attorneys. His work involves legal issues in trial and appellate courts across Florida, in federal court, and in other states. He focuses on complex cases, from product liability and other complex tort matters to health care, insurance, and constitutional litigation.

Matt has obtained the reversal of numerous multimillion and even a multibillion-dollar judgment and has successfully defended many judgments and rulings. He also regularly prepares amicus curiae briefs in important, precedential cases.

Matt has appeared in more than 30 trials to assist trial counsel with legal issues that may be further litigated on appeal. He helps devise strategies that place trial counsel in the best position to win the trial and place the client in the best position to win any appeal that follows.

One of Florida's most frequent speakers on legal matters, Matt is grateful for often being invited by bar, civic, and other organizations to present on myriad topics.

Apart from law, one of Matt's favorite things is running. He loves to run. He has completed more than 60 marathons, including one in each of the 50 states. He has run many of the country's largest marathons, such as Boston, New York, Chicago, Walt Disney World, Marine Corps, and Houston, but his favorite ones have been the smaller races in the heartland. Matt has coached marathon runners for years and has led long-distance relay teams from coast to coast. Sometimes during a trial, or even before big appellate arguments, Matt likes to sneak off for a mind-clearing run.
