Overview

Enrique Miranda is a transactional health care lawyer. He assists clients with all phases of the business cycle, from the formation of new entities and the creation of joint ventures to business acquisitions and exit strategies, including buy/sell transactions and mergers. Enrique participates in client teams for merger and acquisition transactions, including the negotiation and drafting of purchase and sale agreements and related transaction documents. Additionally, he advises clients on corporate, contracts, health care, regulatory, and governance matters.

During law school, Enrique earned a concentration in health law from the nation's premier health law program. He was an extern at a large health system and participated in the Health Law Association's 2016 National Health Law Transactional Competition. Prior to joining Carlton Fields, Enrique was a member of the transactions practice for an international law firm.

Enrique is fluent in Spanish.
