Overview

Scott Pence is a construction and real estate attorney whose practice focuses primarily on representing developers, owners, architects, contractors, and subcontractors in the preparation, negotiation, modification, and administration of all types of contracts and forms related to construction and development transactions. Scott's practice also includes reviewing and advising clients with respect to insurance and risk management issues. Scott has been involved in many large, complex projects both in the State of Florida and across the country, including major stadiums, arenas, ballparks, airports, energy facilities, pipelines, hospitals, education facilities, hotels, casinos and first-responder training facilities. The types of contracts and forms with which he has extensive experience include development agreements, construction contracts, design agreements, consulting services agreements, design-build agreements, engineer/procure/construct (EPC) contracts, purchase and sale agreements, construction management, both at-risk and not-at-risk agreements, integrated project development agreements, requests for proposals, instructions to bidders, invitations to bid, and all of the various ancillary contract administration and project management forms such as change orders, waivers and releases of lien, payment affidavits, payment applications, claims of lien, performance and payment bonds.

Scott is very active in The Florida Bar and is board certified in Construction Law. He is currently a co-vice chair of the Construction Law Committee and the Insurance and Surety Committee of the Real Property, Probate and Trust Law Section of The Florida Bar. He serves as the legislative chair of the CLC's subcommittee and is the editor in chief of Insurance Matters! a newsletter distributed by the Insurance and Surety Committee.

Scott speaks and presents frequently on various matters related to construction contracting and insurance/risk management issues. Topics include: insurance and risk management; specific standardized forms such as the various AIA, ConsensusDOCS and EJCDC forms; types of delivery systems such as design-bid-build, design/build, and construction management; and significant risk shifting contract provisions such as indemnification obligations, insurance requirements, liquidated damages, consequential damages, delays (no-damage for delay and force majeure provisions), warranties, hazardous materials, changed/concealed conditions, termination, and ownership of documents.
