Overview

Nancy Schofield handles a variety of transactional and litigation matters for health care clients. She previously served as assistant general counsel at a large Florida hospital, where she advised executives and management on contractual and general legal issues, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act.

Nancy reviews, analyzes, drafts, and negotiates agreements in areas such as health care information technology, software as a service, outsourcing, provider contracts, and business associate agreements. Additionally, she advises clients in contract and employment disputes, as well as regulatory matters and policy creation and improvement.
